HIGH OFFICIALS TAKING TANLAC

Judges, Mayors And Prominent Business Men Try Premier Preparation.

Lexington, Ky., June 30.—"I have sold Tanlac since the beginning of its introduction in Lexington, to the Mayors of a number of cities, County Judges, Circuit Judges, and to many of the most prominent business men and professional men in Kentucky," said Wm. E. Stagg, the Lexington druggist.

"The demand for the preparation has been phenomenal. In all of my twenty years' experience in the drug business I have never seen anything to equal it."

"In addition to the Lexington demand, Tanlac has been shipped from my store to Kansas City, Mo., Colorado Springs, Cal., Denver, Col., Memphis, Tenn., Meridian, Miss., Bonilla, S. D., Pittsburg, Pa., Jacksonville, Fla., Louisville, Ky., Tiffin, Ohio, Cincinnati, Ohio, Columbia, Tenn., Palm Beach, Fla., Phoenix, Ariz., Los Angeles, Cal., and many other points too numerous to mention. You may rest assured that every city in Kentucky also has heard of Tanlac."

"I can only account for the great demand for this preparation by the fact that it is a good medicine. That is proved by the numerous statements from those who have tested the medicine and are now convinced of its excellent merits. The public has evidently not been slow to appreciate the Tanlac merit."

"Practically $20,000 worth of Tanlac has been sold and distributed through my store within the past few weeks. Such a demand is most certainly unprecedented."

"My associations with Mr. Cooper and the agency for Tanlac has been very pleasant. I therefore take pleasure in commending Mr. Cooper and his very excellent preparation."

Tanlac, the premier preparation, on sale in Blackford at A. T. Brown's drug store, and in Marion at J. H. Orme's drug store, where it is being introduced.

A WELL KNOWN LAWYER

Of Southern Kentucky Upon The Liquor Question, In Introducing Hon. A. O. Stanley.

A speech made by the Hon. Basil Richardson, the well known lawyer of Southern Kentucky, and a recognized State-wide and Nation-wide prohibitionist upon the liquor question in introducing the Hon. A. O. Stanley to an audience at Glasgow. In the senatorial campaign last year Mr. Richardson was an ardent supporter of Governor Beckham.

In the third chapter of the book of Ecclesiastes, it is written: "To everything there is a season, and a time for every purpose under the Heaven: a time to be born, and a time to die; a time to plant and a time to plow up that which is planted; a time to kill and a time to heal; a time to weep and a time to laugh; a time to mourn, and a time to dance; a time to cast away stones and a time to gather together; a time to embrace, and a time to refrain from embracing; a time to get, and a time to lose; a time to keep, and a time to cast away; a time to reap, and a time to sow; a time to keep silence, and a time to speak; a time to love, and a time to hate; a time of war, and a time of peace."

I wish it was within my power to bring this eternal truth to the mind and heart of every Democrat in Kentucky.

We have five candidates for the Democratic nomination for the office of Governor of this Commonwealth. It is time to nominate one candidate for this high office. Within the party it is time to embrace and not time to refrain from embracing, it is time to love and not a time to hate. It is time to gather together stones for the battle against the opposition of Democracy, and for the peace within the party and not for war in our own ranks.

All five of the Democratic candidates are men of high order and well worthy and qualified for the office they seek. The issue forced upon the Democratic party by them, is the liquor question. As to this question I am for State-wide, and Nation-wide prohibition and until this can be had, I am for amending and enlarging by legislative enactment, the county Unit law or local option law with the county as a unit, so as to make the force of it most effective. But, it is not the time for local option or State wide prohibition issues. The liquor question is purely a moral

NEWMAN QUILTS

Withdraws From gubernatorial Race—Alludes To "Party Dissentions."

Louisville, Ky., June 29.—Asserting that "the democratic party in Kentucky today faces a crisis," John W. Newman, the commissioner of agriculture, today announced his withdrawal as a candidate for the democratic nomination for governor. Newman called attention to the dissension in the democratic ranks, and also to what he views as the menacing activity of the republican forces, and asserts there is yet time to successfully meet the crisis.

KANSAS

GREAT LAND OPPORTUNITY IN WEST CENTRAL KANSAS.

In west central Kansas we own and offer for sale a large acreage of choice wheat, corn and alfalfa farms, in tracts of 160 to 800 acres, ranging in price from $10 to $50 per acre. Exceptionally good bargains at from $25 to $35 per acre. The wheat grown on these lands this year will make from 20 to 40 bushels per acre, and in many cases from 1-4 to 1-2 goes with the farm if taken before harvest. "If you are interested," if you would like to invest in lands that is sure to double in value in a very few years, then send me your name and address and I will send you a large folder of some of our choice bargains. SLABS OF MICA RECEIVED AT BIRMINGHAM.

Come From New Mines That Have Been Opened At Pyriton, Ala.

Several large slabs of mica were received in Birmingham Thursday by Harry Watkins from the new mica mine that is being operated at Pyriton, Ala., about 100 miles south of Birmingham on the A. B. & A. railroad. The big slabs of this material received here were obtained from a depth of 100 feet, and their size is taken as an indication that the industry is to become an important one in this State. Most of the mica used in the United States is imported, and the discovery of a large deposit in Alabama is looked upon as a development of more than ordinary importance.—Birmingham News, Birmingham, Ala.

FARMING NOTES.

A Picnic Was Held At Crittenden Springs Last Friday For The Club Boys.

A picnic was held at Crittenden Springs, Friday June 25, for the benefit of the Boy's Corn and Pig Clubs of the county. The attendance was large and a surprise to everybody. It was an inspiring sight to see those boys lined up, marching with corn stalks for muskets and Corn Club and Pig Club badges in place of crosses of the legion of honor.

County Agent Bird, assisted by David Postlethwaite deserve a great deal of credit for the military aspect of these young farmers. And by the way, why is not the farmer a military man? He fights battles just as surely as the soldier of Germany or the soldier of Russia. All life is a battle and the farmer's life doubly so. To aid and assist the marching phalanx at this picnic Uncle Sam and the State of Kentucky sent the following officers high in the ranks:

Mr. B. Gordon Nelson, who is State agent of all the Boy's Corn Clubs in the State, Mr. Otis Kercher, State agent of all of the Boy's Pig Clubs of the State, Mr. W. D. Nichols, State agent of Dairy Husbandry in Kentucky and Mr. M. O. Hughes, District agent for Western Kentucky, over the county agents for the same territory.

To The Boy's Pig and Corn Club.

I take this opportunity of writing you concerning your membership in the Corn Club, in addition to the bulletins already sent you. I want to say to you frankly, my dear boy, that you belong to a great organization, and I want you to do your best in growing your acre of corn. You have the rules laid down to you, and there is more talk today in your county about you and the other boys and your club work than any other one thing. Study the suggestions and rules given you as to how to proceed to grow your acre of corn, follow them up and you will never regret it. You remember me telling you about the big time you were all to have this fall—it's SURE COMING.

Remember, you have a chance to be one of the ten winners on the best ten ears of corn, or one of the five winners on the best history written by them of their crop, one of the five on the largest yield at the least expense. SO GET BUSY! I am coming to see you soon and I want you to have your acre in fine shape when I come.

Some one of you boys will also get to attend the State Fair at Louisville, Ky., this fall, with all expenses paid. Have your corn weighed, that is weigh about 2 boxes or barrels of corn from different parts of the acre, and then keep account of the number of boxes or barrels and multiply this by the weight of same, and in this manner reckon your yield. I tell you I am pleased with the way I find some of our boys working, don't let the other boy beat you, try hard to win and your name will go all over the U. S. Now, once more let me ask you to get busy, always remembering the big County Fair or the Corn show, and the many, many valuable prizes.—J. Robt. Bird county agent.

CAPT. CLARK IS RELEASED

From Custody Under Bond When Court Of Appeals Mandate Is Filed.

Judge Bush, as attorney for Capt. E. W. Clark, this morning presented in Circuit Court the mandate of the court of appeals reversing the trial held here in March. Pursuant to this a formal order was entered here setting aside the verdict in the former trial and ordering a new trial to be held.

Judge Bush then made a motion that Capt. Clark be released under bond and this was granted, bond in the case where he is charged with violation of the age of consent law being placed at $500. There is also another charge, that of contempt of court, and bond in this case was placed at $250. This was readily given, with John Boyd, S. E. Yancey and George Bradley as Capt. Clark's sureties and he was released from custody.—New Era.

"Dry" Sunday, 7000 Demand.

Racine, Wis., June 24.—Petitions signed by nearly 7,000 people, urging the closing of saloons in Racine on Sunday after July 1, were presented to Mayor T. W. Thiesen, when 600 men of all vocations parade the streets, entered the city hall, and there addressed the mayor. Mayor Thiesen said he would hear from those in favor of open saloons and would then give his decision.

Five Severe Shocks Felt In Calxico.

Calxico, June 24.—Five severe earthquake shocks were felt here tonight. Terrified people rushed into the streets, but no appreciable damage was done. No injury to the irrigation system is reported. Some walls, weakened by previous shocks fell.

More Withdrawal Talk.

There are rumors that there will be another withdrawal from the race for the Democratic nomination for governor and it is said that such action will depend upon the developments of the coming week. The campaign has reached the stage where the candidates must "set in another stack" and this may have a bearing on clarifying the situation.—Louisville Times.

FRAUD ON RAILWAYS NIPPED BY CAMPAIGN

Victory In Damage Claim Case Prosecuted By The Commerce Commission.

The interstate commerce commission has gained a victory in its campaign against commission companies which for years have defrauded railroads through claims for alleged damage to goods in shipment, when the Davidson Brothers Commission Company of Des Moines pleaded guilty to such a charge in the United States district court at St. Louis yesterday and was fined $2,500.

The suit grew out of claims filed by the Davidson company with several southern railroads for alleged damage to peaches shipped in 1912. The company asked for $15,000, alleging that the shipments were delayed, roughly handled and not given proper refrigeration facilities. The Davidson company and two other firms were indicted on evidence collected by the commerce commission.

A Beautiful Lawn Party.

Miss Nannie Dean gave a lawn party at her home on the Marion and Fords Ferry road, Saturday evening from 8 'till 11, in honor of her nieces Misses Stella and Carrie Morse and her nephew Mr. H. I. Morse. An extremely pleasant evening was enjoyed by each of large number present. Numerous games and much merriment was indulged in, so pleasant was the occasion that the time limit was extended.

Those who enjoyed the kind hospitality of Miss Dean were as follows:

Stella Dean, Ruby Dean, Carrie Morse, H. I. REV. ELIJAH SIMPSON

Rev. E. J. Simpson, colored, has planted some Brazilian corn, the seed of which he procured from a friend while attending the General Assembly of his church in the South, recently. This corn stools like wheat and from one grain there often comes from two to five stalks, bearing from two to six ears. His friend told him that from one quart of seed he raised on ordinary soil 22 bushels of grain and $26 bundles of fodder. It is claimed that it will make a better biscuit than wheat flour. He paid at the rate of $9.20 per bushel for the seed.—Providence Enterprise.

M'CHESNEY IS DEFENDED BY MAN WHO HEARD

Winchester Editor Charges That False Story Was Started From There.

(Frankfort State Journal.)

A charge that H. V. McChesney in his speech at Winchester declared he would rather vote for a dry Republican than a wet Democrat, met with prompt and decisive rebuke from the editor of The Winchester Democrat, who said he heard the speech and no such thing was in it.

The Winchester Democrat says: "The liquor men are searching the heavens and the earth in their frantic effort to bring Hon. H. V. McChesney into disrepute. They have not stopped at anything and are even manufacturing speeches that were never made. In a newspaper owned and run by well-known distillers, and which only made its appearance when the gubernatorial campaign began, appears the following: 'The Hon. Harry V. McChesney, who is the candidate of the Anti-Saloon League, and of the "Bosses" stated in his recent speech at Winchester, that he would rather vote for a "Dry Republican" than for a "Wet Democrat." What does this mean? What could it mean except that he and his backers would rather vote for O'Rear, "Dry," than for James, "Wet," for United States Senator?"

"The editor of The Democrat heard Mr. McChesney's speech, every word of it, and he heard no such words. A number of others who heard the speech have been asked and they never heard such a statement.

"The report, which it so eagerly seizes, was started by a Winchester saloonkeeper and we can call him by name if it is denied.

"What McChesney really said was this: 'If a dry man and a wet man are running vote for the dry man'.

"He had just previously spoken of the primary legislative races, and few people could mistake his meaning. He was referring to Democrats, alone, as any unbiased hearer would understand."

Back From Muhlenberg.

Mr. McChesney returned yesterday from Muhlenberg county, where he spoke in Greenville Monday afternoon and Central City at night. He said he had big crowds at both places and was pleased beyond expectations with his reception.

Mr. McChesney will speak in Hanson, Hopkins county, Friday afternoon and Dawson Springs that night. Elkton Saturday afternoon and Trenton Saturday night. Monday he will speak at Hopkinsville and Monday night at Pembroke.

THE LOUISVILLE POST AND STATE-WIDE

The writer has been present at large religious gatherings on more than one occasion when Mr. Knott the distinguished editor of The Louisville Evening Post was commended for his efficient work in breaking the political power of the liquor influence in Kentucky. This kind of endorsement has been one of the main factors in helping him to build up a great newspaper. That he should at the present status of the political situation in Kentucky turn his back upon these friends and, stepping up by the side of the Hon. A. Stanley onto a platform entirely satisfactory to the liquor men, is a matter of great disappointment and deep regret. The County Unit law was a wise move to an end to the state wide prohibition. Mr. Knott must have known. In the very nature of the case it could not be otherwise. Let us illustrate. We in Trigg voted out the saloons by an overwhelming majority, but on our border, a few hundred yards from the imaginary county line, stands Gracely with two little saloons, that for all practical purposes might as well be in Trigg. Hopkinsville stands just ten miles from the line with 25 open saloons, from which there goes out daily a "whisky special" into the surrounding prohibition counties bearing liquor to every boot-legal or blind-tiger that can scrape together a few dollars with which to pay for it. But, says Mr. Knott, "Let Christian use the County Unit and vote them out." Mr. Knott has every reason to know that there was and is a purchasable vote in Christian county, who did sell their votes at the last election, the liquorites spending more than $30,000 to carry the county "wet." Thus it is, when we carry a county "dry" they place their "corruption plant" in the adjoining county and, by the use of money, break down what they hypocritically promised not to do. Being thus at the mercy of a lawless gang, there is nothing left to which we can appeal except state-wide prohibition.—Cadiz Record

The Illinois Central and the Yazoo and Mississippi Valley Railroad Companies have issued Publicity Bulletin No. 12, as follows: "COURTESY." It is the desire of this company that its employees be courteous, leave the grouch out of your work and let affability take its place. In your contact with the public you will find that nothing irons out anger so quickly as courtesy, and that only those who are polite and obliging, as a rule, succeed. It is essential, therefore, that this be not forgotten--soft answers turn away wrath. Courtesy eliminates naturally the refractory animosities. Let all Illinois Central employees keep this in mind. We think everybody in the world would do well to be courteous.

The Liquor Cranks are excited because the anti-booze agitation threatens "properties valued in the aggregate at perhaps $2,000,000,000." It may comfort them to reflect that this "perhaps" total of theirs is almost exactly one ninety-fourth of the estimated wealth of the United States. But it causes an altogether disproportionate part of the total crime, disease, suffering and waste with which our country is afflicted. The rest of us pay mighty heavy taxes in all these ways to keep up their "values." Booze wealth is the most selfish, tyrannous, and wooden headed form of property known to our civilization, and it ought to be possible to scale its fraction down (and out) with perfect safety and great gain. Why should a minor interest be a major nuisance?--Colliers.

The Big Sandy News Says:

Hon. H. V. McChesney, candidate for the Democratic nomination for Governor of Kentucky is speaking every day and sometimes twice a day in Eastern and Central Kentucky, and is being greeted with the most enthusiastic crowds everywhere.

It is a well known fact that almost every large daily newspaper circulating in Kentucky is dominated by the liquor interests and for this reason the general public is not able to keep posted on the progress of McChesney's campaign. They will not print facts about these meetings that show what a large following Mr. McChesney has. They want to keep the public in ignorance of the fact that he is leading all the other candidates.

Mr. McChesney will visit the Big Sandy valley again soon, speaking in all the county seats, with the probable exception of Louisa, where he opened his campaign. -- Big Sandy News.

Candidates Speak.

The following candidates spoke at the courthouse Monday afternoon in the interests of their candidacy: Hon. Lee Gibson, of Madisonville, and Hon. John W. Blue, of this city, candidates for Circuit Judge, each made their announcements, stating the reasons why they should be elected Circuit Judge. Attorney Elliot Baker, of Princeton and Attorney Ruby Laffoon, of Madisonville, made their announcements for Commonwealth's attorney, each promising to do their duty if elected. They were followed by Judge J. F. Gordon, who spoke a few words in the relation of his candidacy for the office of the Court of Appeals.

CIRCUIT COURT IS IN SESSION.

Circuit Court Convened Monday With Judge Gordon Presiding.

Circuit Court convened in this city Monday morning with Judge Gordon presiding, with John L. Grayott representing the State and Trice Bennett the county. The grand and petit juries were empaneled. The county officials made their reports.

The charge to the grand jury was very logically and forcibly delivered, calling the attention of the jury to the following points of law in regard to their duty as grand jurymen.

The grand jury's material design is to enforce the laws. Homicide, taking of human life; Murder, Malicious cutting, Stabbing, Shooting and assault are known as Common Law Terms. Breach of the peace, we should not disturb the peace of society, this should be looked after for it may be the beginning of a greater crime; Carrying concealed deadly weapons; shooting on the public highway, stop this and you will stop a great many crimes that are being committed. It is a cowardly act and breaks down society; Selling malt liquors, boot-leggers, blind tigers, no respectable person will violate the local option laws of their community. To enforce these laws public sentiment must be behind them. It is the duty of the people to enforce the law.

MCCHESNEY RAPS LIQUOR QUESTION.

Elizabethtown, Ky., June 29. --H. V. McChesney, candidate for the Democratic nomination for Governor, addressed the voters of this county in the interest of his candidacy at four different places in the last two days, closing his series here in the courthouse Saturday afternoon to an audience of about two hundred.

He said the dog tax in Kentucky amounts to about three times that on all distilleries and breweries in the State, that ninety-five of every one-hundred men in the penitentiaries of the State are there on account of liquor and that 80 per cent. of the lunatics in the asylums and the same per cent. of cases of feeble mindedness and idiocy can be traced, directly or indirectly, to liquor. He said 80 per cent. of $1,083,000 of the costs of prosecuting criminals, caring for the inmates in penal and charitable institutions, and caring for pauper idiots is due to the liquor traffic in the State. His speech was well received.

Farming Notes.

This array of talent cannot be beaten in any state. Each one of them is a pleasant speaker and you instinctively feel that he is a master in his line.

Mr. Gordon Nelson took for a subject "The Outlook for the good farmer of the future is in the boys."

Mr. Kercher talked on the "feed care and management of pigs." His talk was listened to with close attention. Mr. Hughes skirted along the subject of soil improvement and made a speech that fit generally, over the entire farm. He is a forceful speaker and carries conviction with every word.

The first speech he ever made in Marion was made in the courthouse along early in the spring. At the close Mr. Jeff Clement remarked "that is the best thing every said in this courthouse," which by the way is some compliment.

Mr. W. D. Nicholls spoke on "Dairy outlook in Crittenden county." He held everybody's attention and at the close had to stand fire from a dozen questioners. Every farmer in Crittenden county should have heard this talk. He did not make a statement he could not back up, and generally by performances on his own dairy farm.

The day was pleasantly spent. The dinner spread upon the ground was delightful, with plenty for all. Lieut Gov E. J. McDermott spent a few minutes on the grounds and upon invitation made a wonderful, appropriate speech along the lines of soil and crop improvement with illustrations from methods used in Germany and other countries. He demonstrated to the crowd very thoroughly that he is a man of varied attainments and while he is a good lawyer he is also a good farmer.

Animations reach the Record-Press that this picnic affair may be pulled off again along in September, and if so, strenuous efforts will be made to get the news spread so well that there will be several thousand present instead of several hundred.

Stings or bites of insects that are followed by swellings, pain or itching should be treated promptly as they are poisonous. BALLARD'S SNOW LINIMENT counteracts the poison. It is both antiseptic and healing. Price 25c, 50c and $1.00 per bottle. Sold by James H. Orme, Marion, Ky.

POLITICAL PROPHETS.

Some of the liquorites at Frankfort are predicting that Stanley will get 60 per cent. of the vote in Madison county in the coming August primary. We are not much of a political prognosticator but we don't think that Mr. Stanley will be very much in evidence when the people come to vote in this county. A vote for Stanley is a vote for all for which the Whiskey Trust stands. He is no more for the County unit bill than he was years ago. He is opposing State-wide prohibition and his pretended advocacy of Local Option and the County Unit Bill is farcical in the extreme. He is for the whiskey Trust where he has always stood. A vote for him is an endorsement of the Whiskey Trust.

FOR STATE SUPERINTENDENT

R. S. EUBANK.

Always a school man and for two years Editor of the official educational organ of Kentucky, Mr. Eubank has done more than any other one man to shape public opinion in school affairs and to remove the public schools from the realm of politics. The measures which he has proposed have proved incapable of use as "political machines," and have been designed always to secure the greatest good to the greatest number of children in the Commonwealth. He knows more school people, and more about Kentucky's public schools, than it has been any other man's opportunity to know. His County Board law has proved a true remedial measure and has made it possible for the rural child to have the same advantage as that enjoyed by the city child. Mr. Eubank has brought higher education to the people, and they are standing behind him in his race for the Democratic nomination to the office of Superintendent of Public Instruction. -- A v

TRY AND SEE.

The Louisville Times, declares that "There are no present circumstances in Kentucky which justify State-wide agitation." Probably the Times, which is recognized as one of the organs of the liquor interests, thinks not, but everyone who, from an unbiased standpoint recognizes as an eternal principal of democracy the right of the majority to rule, knows full well that the great mass of the people of Kentucky want to vote on this question and liquor interests, their political henchmen and candidates for Governor and their newspaper mouthpieces, are doing everything in their power to prevent the people from having a vote on the question. Just let the people have a say and it will very quickly be demonstrated whether there are any "circumstances" which justify such agitation. If the majority of the people are against the proposition, let them say so, and well and good. But how can anyone argue democratic consistency in urging that the people should have a vote on working convicts on the roads, woman suffrage, changing the tax laws or other questions--most of which the Times has been demanding be submitted to the popular vote--and yet seeking to deny the people a vote on the State-wide question. -- Interior Journal.

MAKES RANCH SCENE FROM BIG TOOL SUPPLY

The creation of a window display in which is shown a typical California barnyard scene—barn, fence, cows, sheep and several kinds of poultry—from an assortment of tools regularly kept in stock is a feat just performed by Jas. L. Travis, in charge of the tool department at the Malco-Blanchard hardware store.

The live stock and poultry appearing in the display are the only features not taken from the tool department, but are used to add life and vitality to the rural setting so cleverly constructed.

The window has attracted much favorable attention from passersby.—Los Angeles Examiner

Belligerent Powers Add Eleven Billion to Debts

Budapest, June 15.—The national debts of the belligerent powers have been increased $11,250,000,000 since the beginning of the war, according to figures compiled by Dr. Elemer Hantos, a Hungarian financial authority.

Austria, says Dr. Hantos, added $745,000,000 to her previous debt of $2,700,000,000, and Hungary $425,000,000 to a previous debt of $1,395,000,000.

Germany's national debt at the beginning of the war was $6,420,000,000, and this had increased by $2,895,000,000 at the end of March. Turkey increased her national debt from $605,000,000 to $715,000,000.

Great Britain's increase is set by Dr. Hantos at $2,150,000,000. France's at $2,300,000,000 and Russia's at $2,750,000,000. Smaller amounts are chargeable to Serbia, Montenegro, Belgium and Japan.

IF.
If you can forge ahead, when all about you
Are hanging back and criticizing you;
If you believe yourself when Antis flout you,
Yet keep it up till they believe it, too;
If you can work and not be grim and grumpy
Or being lied about, don't ever tell;
Or being busy, don't grow frayed and irritable,
And yet don't dress too smart nor look too well.
If you can learn to brave a lifted eyebrow,
If you can interest a doubting dame;
If you can meet a Baby-stare or Highbrow
And treat those two impostors just the same;
If you can hear the Cause in all its phases,
Mis-stated by the Antis o'er and o'er,
And listen to their hackneyed, worn-out phrases,
And being floored—just up and take the floor!
If you can make one heap of household labors
And just by going at them, get them done;
If you can hear the gossip of your neighbors,
And never breathe a word to any one;
If you can keep your heart and nerve renewing,
When Rumor says another chance is gone—
And so hold on when there is nothing doing
Except the Cause that says to you: "Keep on!"
If you can talk to crowds and keep your distance,
Or walk with men, nor lose your woman's ways;
If every wrong encounters your resistance,
And every right receives your honest praise;
If you can take the thread as Fate may spin it,
And weave your web of Life with right good-will—
You'll get the vote and everything that's in it,
And, what is more, you'll be a Woman still!
—Carolyn Wells in Inck.

1,100 Sheep, Poisoned by Weed, Run Wild in Town.

Spokane, Wash., June 21.—More than 1,100 sheep are dead within a radius of three miles from Boyds, a hamlet 75 miles north of Spokane, as the result of eating the "white camas" weed, was the report brought here by J. J. Minnick, a state food inspector, who returned from Boyds last night.

Crazed by the weed, part of the sheep ran wild through the town, until they died in convulsions, while hundreds plunged into the Kettle river and were drowned.

The sheep were part of a flock of 1,000 shipped there a few days ago to be pastured in the forest reserve.

LET JUSTICE REIGN.

Fair Play is the old-time motto of the Farm Journal, and so we want to see Fair Play to women in regard to the franchise. There are some women who do not want to vote; they needn't. Men prize the privilege and would be fighting mad if they were denied it. The ballot protects the citizen in his property, in his person and his liberty. Men need such protection; women need it far more. Some say that men give women all the protection they require. This is so in some cases but not in others. Suppose women and men had the privilege of voting? What chance would men have for a square deal? Not much. Equal franchise is the watchword of the hour. It is a great forward movement of American democracy.
Let Justice Reign.—Editorial in June Farm Journal, Wilmer Atkinson, Editor.

MARION PROOF

Should Convince Every Marion Reader.

The frank statement of a neighbor, telling the merits of a remedy, bids you pause and believe. The same endorsement by some stranger far away commands no belief at all. Here's a Marion case. A Marion citizen testifies. Read and be convinced.

"The statement I made some year ago regarding an attack of kidney trouble that I had at that time and that was permanently cured by Doan's Kidney Pills, holds good," says J. E. Glass, farmer, of Marion. "They surely do all that is claimed for them. I have recommended Doan's Kidney Pills to many people who have also been cured of severe cases of kidney and bladder trouble."

Prices at all dealers. Don't simply ask for a kidney remedy—get Doan's Kidney Pills—the same that Mr. Glass had. Foster-Milburn Co., Props., Buffalo, N. Y.

ZEPPELIN LOST WITH ITS CREW

Destroyed by Canadian in Monoplane in Sensational Flight.

London, June 17.—A Zeppelin dirigible, manned by a crew of twenty-eight, thought to be returning from a raid on the east coast of England, was blown up and was accompanied with a monoplane driven by a youthful Canadian aviator, R. A. J. Warneford, who has been on the front line list as sub-lieutenant in the royal navy. Sighting the aeroplanes, the Zeppelin took to the air and, climbing six thousand feet, dropped six incendiary and explosive bombs with such precision that the dirigible was soon aflame. It fell crashing into an orchard near Ghent. Its crew were captured as well as several prisoners of the aeroplanes.

WHAT HARRY REALLY SAID

Boycott Was to be of Papers Carrying Liquor Advertisements.

The editor of the Louisville

Post wrote Harry McChesney to know if he was correctly quoted in his Barlow speech. His answer is given below:

"I am in receipt of your letter, asking whether I made a statement in a speech at Barlow, Ky., which has been attributed to me by publication in the Louisville Times and the Hopkinsville Kentuckian, and commented upon by the Elizabethtown News, Mayfield Messenger and other papers opposing the submission of a state-wide amendment. The publications allege that I said at Barlow: 'Brethren, listen to me! I would advise you allow no newspapers, large or small, to come into your homes which does not stand for state-wide prohibition.' I made no such statement at Barlow, or any other place, nor any statement remotely akin to it.

"What I did say at Barlow, and at every other place where I have spoken, and what I shall continue to say throughout the campaign, is that there is a time coming in Kentucky when the people will not allow any newspaper which carries a liquor advertisement in its columns to come into their homes.

"I suppose some of the papers publishing this alleged statement were imposed upon by an agent of the liquor interests, who purposely misquoted me. I trust these papers will be fair enough to right the wrong they have done me by now publishing what I did say.

"Thanking you for your kindness in asking me for the facts before making any comments on the matter, I am,

"Very truly yours,
"H. A. MCCHESNEY"

WORLD-WIDE

The Question of Prohibition Is Fast Becoming.

Says the Big Sandy News, of Louisa, Ky.: "Prohibition is getting to be a world-wide issue. Never before has there been such a strong sentiment in favor of taking this course out of the hands of the members of the United Nations as too weak to resist the temptation of this in adopting prohibition is the greatest demonstration in favor of this movement that has ever been seen. The poor people who have been suffering and paying the revenue produced by the liquor licenses have been set free. Their families are now well taken care of and are happy and vigorous. The men themselves are altogether different creatures. May the day speedily come when prohibition will sail through the United States. The way to get it is to show community spirit and to vote for prohibition."

MRS. DUVALL NEW LADY CLUB AGENT

Ada, Okla., June 3.—Mrs. Elva Roberts Duvall, of Oakman, has received her appointment as the lady agent for the girls' club of this county. She was in Ada today in conference with Miss Chandler, the state agent, relative to the various phases of the work.

It is usually conceded that Mrs. Duvall is one of the best, if not the best, qualified woman in the county for this important position. She has been principal of the Oakman school for some time, and has been brilliantly successful there, in fact, her enthusiasm in the school room, coupled with her ability to handle children and her knowledge of farm life, was responsible for her appointment.

Mrs. Duvall has already begun her work. She expects to have some exhibits this fall at the fair that will surpass anything yet seen here. She will be heard from time to time in the Junior Farmer, as the Junior Farmer editor will publish interviews from her.—Weekly News.

REPUBLICAN CONVENTION AT LEXINGTON

Opposed to State-Wide Amendment "Being Submitted to the People."

Lexington, Ky., June 16.—The Republican platform convention of 4 years ago, dominated by the temperance forces under the leadership of Judge E. C. O'Rear, forced the adoption of the county unit plank.

That it was dominated by the liquor forces this year was evidenced by the leaders in control, and by its voting down, by a vote of 2,104 to 162, a plank offered by Judge O'Rear providing for the submission to the people of a state-wide amendment, and also by its refusing to endorse the only two Republican Congressmen of Kentucky, who are supporting nation-wide prohibition.

Just as significant was the slating of E. S. Helburn, of Middleboro, for lieutenant governor, the officer who names the senate committees. O'Rear refused four years ago, to let Helburn go on the ticket with him.

National Committeeman John McCullough, maker of Green River whisky, Owensboro; Edmund Taylor, of the Old Taylor Distillery, Frankfort; Wood Dunlap, of Old Pepper, Lexington; Lawrence Reichert, of the Frank Fehr Brewery, Louisville; John Klockner, of the Weidemann Brewery, Newport; Representative Harry Meyers, of Covington, floor leader against the County Unit in the House, and Dick Dehoney, representing Herman Bros., wholesalers, of Louisville, were conspicuous at the convention, while William Marshall Bullitt, of Louisville, temporary chairman, is counsel for liquor interests, it is claimed and we have seen no denial.

STANLEY WILL WIN.

Prediction of Thos. B. Cromwell, the Political Diagnostician of the Cincinnati Enquirer.

STANLEY SEES OLLIE M. JAMES—ALL JAMES' MEN FOR STANLEY.

(Frankfort Courier.)

"Notwithstanding the claims that are being made by and for Lieutenant-Governor Edward J. McDermott, Auditor Henry M. Foxworth, Commissioner of Agriculture John W. Newman and Harry V. McCheesney, who are also seeking the gubernatorial nomination, the sentiment is growing all over the state that Stanley will win.

"It is even so in the First Congressional District, which he lost last fall, and which brings to mind the fact that following the visit of Senator Ollie M. James to his home at Marion last week and his brief sojourn in Louisville last Saturday night and Sunday morning the rumor is afloat that big Jim has let it be known to some of his close political friends that he does not intend to express any preference as between the candidates, and that he has intimated that were he to come out for anyone that one would be Stanley.

"In support of this rumor," continues Mr. Cromwell, "it is noted that Senator James and Stanley had a talk at Louisville Sunday morning; that Collector Ben Marshall came as far as Frankfort with Senator James from Louisville the same morning; that Marshall is outspokenly for Stanley; that United States Marshal Robert G. Ford, Collector of Internal Revenue Charlton B. Thompson and Assistant United States Attorney Thomas D. Slatery attended the Stanley meeting at Covington and dined with him afterward, and that Collector John W. Hughes, of the Eighth District, and Captain W. Vernon Richardson, private secretary to Senator James, both of Danville, attended Colonel Ike Dunn's fish fry in Garrard county last week and were with Stanley there, and also were in his audience at his meeting at Danville that night.

At Richmond last Monday approximately 2,000 men were on the streets, it being county court day, when Stanley arrived to fill his speaking appointment. A few minutes before 1 o'clock rain began to fall and the committee in charge decided that he should speak in the court house. As many as could crowd into the room heard him for more than an hour.

When he had concluded the rain was over and he sun was shining. A number of those who had not been able to hear him pressed about him for a second speech, which he made from a platform in the court-house yard. It was stated that only one other man—William Goebel—had ever found it necessary to make two speeches in Richmond on the same day to satisfy those who had come to hear him.

The writer was told by more than a score of the most astute politicians in Madison county that "Stanley will get 50 per cent. of the Democratic vote in this county," or that "Stanley will get MORE than 50 per cent. of the Democratic vote in this county." Madison county is Governor James B. McCreary's home county, and it has been claimed up to now to be for Auditor Henry M. Bosworth. Certainly there is no material sentiment in favor of state-wide prohibition among the voters in the county, especially in Richmond.

CANAL ZONE.

A speech on Home Missions delivered at Marion, Ky., May 30th, 1915, by Rev. R. Robinson at a Ministers' and Members' Meeting:

Brother Moderator and Brethren: By a treaty made in 1904 the Republic of Panama granted to the United States the perpetual use and control of a strip of territory, known as the Canal Zone.

This grant extends five miles on each side of the central line of the canal route and entirely across the isthmus, but does not include the cities of Panama and Colon. The Canal Zone, consequently, is composed of a strip of land forty-nine by ten miles, or 315,600 acres.

Brethren, I want to speak of the opportunity of Baptists in this Canal Zone.

Like the dawning of this day, came quietly, yet distinctly, so comes opportunity. Unlike this day's quiet but certain closing opportunity lingers. Time is independent, intangible. It does not obey us. We can not lay hold of it. Opportunity is a servant. It comes for no other purpose but to serve. It obeys. We can lay hold of it. Ignore it, and like time, it takes its flight. When it is once gone it will never return. While I speak an opportunity is at its dawning hour for Home Mission work in the Canal Zone. The link or two mighty continents, the great thoroughfare for the commerce of the world, this zone furnishes a field fraught with glittering possibilities for servants in God's vineyard. Process by which the work may be done I shall not detail. I leave that for those who have been longer in the field. My purpose, in the few minutes I am permitted to speak, is to set forth this opportunity and its wonderful possibilities with as much modesty as I can command under the weighty importance of the subject.

The great commission was and is: "Go ye into all the world and preach the gospel to every creature." This authoritative command carrying with it the hope of the salvation of the world, was enunciated by our Savior after much Home Mission work in that noted commercial crossing on the cosmopolitan city, Capernaum, north shore of Lake Galilee, that there in that semi-tropical land that flowed with milk and honey and cultivated like a garden to the very tops of the mountains, there where the warm climate is tempered by the cool breezes from the lofty surrounding hills, our and social one, and the final settlement thereof will be religious and not political. The interest and success of the question demand it to be so. Those who righteously desire its success and final settlement do now, and have always so regarded it.

The makers of the constitution of Kentucky, who were the illustrious and able men from all parties, evidently viewed the liquor question as a moral and social, and not a partisan question, for, by a provision of the constitution, proposed in the convention by them and ratified by the voters of Kentucky, it was made impossible to hold a liquor election at the same time a political election is held. Is it not safer to follow the makers of the constitution of this question than some candidate for office?

This provision of the constitution is a wise and salutary one, and without it, the local option law would not now be in operation in any county of the State. Under it, and the Statute made in pursuance thereto, one hundred and twelve counties in this State are under local option law. More than three fourths of the area and more than two-thirds of the population of the State, are now under the local option law. The time is near in the future when there will be no section or no citizen in this State without the influence of either local option or State-wide prohibition.

More than one-half of the area and more than one-half of the population of the United States are under prohibition. The time is also near in the future when there will be no territory and citizens of the United States without the influence of prohibition. But this condition in this State and throughout the United States will be brought about by the voters of all political parties and at a time and at an election other than a political election held to nominate party candidates for executive offices.

In every county of this State, and at every election in this State and without this State wherein the local option or prohibition law has been put into operation, it has been done at elections held when the only issue was the liquor question and at which election, all political parties voted their religious and moral sentiments and not their political views.

The local option or prohibition and political issues will no more mix than will water and oil. An effort to mix water and oil, ruins the oil and spoils the water. The mixing of the liquor question and politics always spoils the politics and defeats the liquor question. The history of the feats of the Prohibition Party should be sufficient to convince all of us and to lead us to avoid attempting to mix politics and the liquor question at primary elections for executive offices.

I would urge every Democrat, not only in Barren County, but in Kentucky, if it were within my power, to follow the constitution, and keep separate the liquor question and their politics and not to attempt to mix these questions or make them an issue in a party primary, and thereby avoid disaster to our party. Moreover, it is not the part of wisdom and it is not fair to the Democrats in local option counties to have forced upon them in a party primary, by candidates, an issue on the State-wide question in a race for the nomination for Governor. It is no time for it. It is not good democracy. It is alright to demand of candidates for offices of Representatives and Senators, a declaration of their views on all moral and social questions, including local option and prohibition, for it is their duty to enact laws and propose constitutional amendments pertaining thereto. But, the Governor, after he is elected, can neither vote for nor veto a proposed amendment to the constitution authorizing the submission to the people of the question of State-wide prohibition.

The Governor has under the law and the constitution, no more to do with, authority over such proposed amendments to the constitution than has the Chief Justice of the Court of Appeals of Kentucky; therefore the belief and conviction of the one on this question should not be a test of his Democracy any more than the belief and conviction of the other.

The eternal principles of Democracy are big enough and do embrace the local option and prohibition question, but these questions should not be made a test in the Democratic Primary for an executive office. It is neither the time nor the place therefor. Democracy means more and treats men better than that. Its principles are big enough and broad enough and high enough and deep enough to embrace every social and moral question, including the local option or prohibition issue, and Democracy is good enough not to make these a test of ones Democracy for an executive or judicial office. They are big enough and broad enough to found and build and maintain upon them a righteous government by a righteous people and for a righteous people. They are saving our country to day. With all my heart I believe and am convicted that when the God of all of us foresaw the on-coming of the great European war, he called to service to save our system of government, the great principles of Democracy, and that man, whose life and character and broad christianity makes him rise above the rest of mankind like the mountain peaks above the mist of the valley, in early morn, and whose intellect and Democracy keep the blood of Americans from drenching today the sands of Mexico and making crimson the waters of Europe. It is the principles of Democracy that move and guide Woodrow Wilson in maintaining the stability of our government, as well as the saving of the lives of Americans in these days of almost universal war.

It is a part of his Democracy to deal with the liquor question as a moral and religious question. He said in his Shannon letter that it was a moral and social question. Can we do better than to gauge our Democracy by his? We follow him in time of war and in time of peace, should we not follow him in time of politics? He does not and he will not make one's belief and convictions on the liquor question a test of his Democracy, shall we do so? Let us not make it such or attempt to mix the question with politics at a primary election for the office of Governor. To do so is out of time and out of season.

We have with us here today a man who stands with Woodrow Wilson on all great questions that effect our common welfare. We have with us here today a man who for twelve long years has fought the battles of Democracy in Congress and out. He has stood face to face, heart to heart to the naked truth of things, and hurled the shining lance full and fair into the face of the defamers of our country. He is a lawyer and statesman. He is more than that. "He is the Intellectual Giant, Hon. A. O. Stanley, I present him, hear him, work for him now, vote for him, nominate him, and when the idea of November shall have come, Edwin P. Morrow, the Republican Party, and the devil and Tom Walker can't beat him. Avertiment.

INTERESTING PAPER CANAL ZONE.

Master worked as never man worked. There with more than human eyes he beheld a field in His Father's vineyard, ripe unto harvest. He saw the need of work, not only with his own people, the chosen race, in whose lineage He had divine birth, but with those in the caravans from Persia and Egypt, and from Syria and Rome. Among these multitudes of millions who thronged to Him to hear His words and see His works were found witnesses unto Him both Jerusalem and in all Judea, and in Samaria and unto the utmost parts of the earth. The testimony of these gospel writers and that Master Missionary who lifted the gentile world out of its dark night of heathenism has stretched its luminous rays down through the ages to you and to me, and is giving light to our pathway, and makes brighter in us the hope for the dawn of the Millennium. Our pathway leads to the Canal Zone as certain as our hopes feed on the prospects of Christ's coming back to earth again.

In Panama, that land of everlasting summer, made even more comfortable by breezes from mountain lakes, that land across whose bosom the arms of the mighty Atlantic and the Pacific have been joined to bear up the ships of the seas. In that land I see, if I mistake not, the vision: A field similar to that which our Saviour saw at Capernaum. There will be in the near future more than the 600,000 which inhabited Palestine. They will be more cosmopolitan. Across this place will race the "iron horse" from the Arctic ocean on the north to the Atlantic seas on the south. There North and South America join. Over that land the Atlantic and the Pacific oceans have locked their arms. Through that canal the nations of the Old World will go to market—Malay mixing with Caucasian, Mongolian co-mingling with the Negro—one mighty mass of humanity surging mad with the spirit of the age. In that great center the Home Missionary can find a field in which to labor for our Master. There the zeal for the mightiest soul for Christ can find satisfaction. But his trials will be many; his obstacles mountain-like. Commercialism in its most frenzied state will be there. Cold materialism will chill the warm spirit. Paganism will stalk about with its cursed antiquities. But the spirit of our Saviour manifested in the lives of Home Missionaries, giving a cup of water to the thirsty, a crust of bread to the hungry, shelter to the out-cast, will calm the storm until they can hear, "It is I, be not afraid." And when they shall have satisfied themselves that commercialism has no other god than Mammon, that Paganism has only gods of wood and stone, and that materialism has no god of any kind to which their troubled spirits may cry, then it is that they will hear the story of our Christ and our Lord with grateful hearts. There is that soon to be garden-spot of the earth, whither will gather the high and low, the rich and poor, the learned and the illiterate, should also gather Home Missionaries, so fired by the Holy Spirit that the tides of that storm-tossed mass of humanity can not quench them.

Shall we sit idly by with folded hands and play the role of the unprofitable servant in the effulgent light of this splendid opportunity to do a mighty work in our Master's vineyard? Has not God in His wise providences lead man to make of Panama a greater Capernaum? Is it not true that "greater things than these shall ye do," may come to pass in the Canal Zone? Is it not possible that there shall be a greater dispensing of that knowledge as it is Christ, Jesus from Panama by reason of Home Missions than that inspired at Capernaum? Can it not be that our Lord shall again use the routes of trade on a greater scale to send His gospel to the ends of the earth?

Let us hope, let us pray, let us work to that end and that our Lord's coming may be hastened, and that God's kingdom may be ushered in. By faith I see a light radiating from the Canal Zone to the four corners of the earth, dispelling heathen darkness, and lighting up the world for the Lord's second coming. What would you do, what would you say, you could be hold the shine of Orientalism crumbling to dust, and on their ruins being erected magnificent church structures, dedicated to the worship of God? What buoyancy of spirit would be ours if we could have a part in this great work? What ecstasy of soul to be one who helps to send a missionary there? That this may not be just a wild fancy, or merely a pleasant dream, let us work to the end that it may be a sweet reality. And then while the ages of eternity roll we shall have a part in the joy and exultation with the redeemed of the earth, around God's great white throne forever and forever.

Cat's Service.

Quick service has always been the boast of the Crittenden Hardware Company, of this city. But when H. D. Wolford, of the Pigmy Mining Co., called a few days ago and gave them an order for 175 different items he was fearful that there would be a delay in filling the order and was wondering how long it would take to get the order filled completely if some of the items had to be ordered. He called at the bank and a few other places in the city and returned to Cochran & Co's. store in an hour and a half and was informed that his order had been filled and every item checked and not one back ordered. Mr. Wolford was not only delighted but amazed that a Marion Hardware store could do what not one in a dozen wholesale houses could do.

Mr. and Mrs. Charles Bealmeier of New Salem, visited their farm near here Sunday week.

The singing at O. N. Kirks Saturday night was well attended.

John Conyer is finishing his house on the Fredonia and Salem road, where he will move next year.

NOTICE TO OUR CORRESPONDENTS

We are sorry that your locals failed to appear in last week's paper, but our correspondent typo, Seldon Hughes, has been sick, but is now able to be at his post, and we hope to catch up with your letters soon.—Record-Press.
